MANY THOUSANDS ARE IDLE; LIGHTS OF CITIES OUT FOR COAL LACK

ADDITIONAL EFFECTS OF MINERS' WALKOUT GROWING OVER NATION

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The nations' first Thanksgiving Day in a general soft coal work stoppage—at least in many years—was marked today by a rising tide of unemployment, victimizing an estimated 90,000, and by dimouts which darkened cities in more than a score of states.

Basic steel plants, those converting iron ore and pig iron into steel, and railroads were hardest hit as the AFL-United Mine Workers' 400,000 bituminous coal miners began a secondweek of idleness. Steel fabricators, who use steel as a raw material, expected wholesale layoffs which spokesmen predicted would climb to 100,000 within a week in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

Schools Extend Holidays.

The ban on extra lighting and coal consumption brought extended Thanksgiving holidays to many schools and colleges.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., largest subsidiary of U. S. Steel, furloughed 3,200 men in the Pittsburgh and Youngstown districts. An additional 9,000 were placed on part-time as the firm closed 77 of 129 open hearths and banked 16 of 24 blast furnaces.

The parent U. S. Steel Corp. planned to make cutbacks next week in finishing mills.

Gas Supply Lower.

In Chicago, the People's Gas, Light and Coke Co. said about half the natural gas it receives from steel mills has been cut off in recent days. The city's schools, with about 20,000 tons of coal on hand, introduced conservation measures to make the supply last until the Christmas holidays. Theaters, clubs and recital operators reported reduced attendance.

Meanwhile railroad layoffs accounted for more than 12,000 employes. Latest to leave payrolls were 3,000 at the New York Central and 300 working for the Pennsylvania railroad near Johnstown, Pa.

The St. Louis board of education ordered all after-school ac-

UNION RELIGIOUS SERVICES START THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY; MOST OF BUSINESSES CLOSE UP FOR DAY

Rev. W. O. Harmon, minister of the First Christian church, brought the message at the union Thanksgiving service at the First Methodist church Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, which opened Corsicana's holiday observance.

His subject was "Let Us Give Thanks." Hymns, prayers and Scriptures dealing with Thanksgiving were added features of the program

An offering was taken to be used by the Corsicana Ministerial Alliance.

The Rev. Mr. Harmon is president of the ministerial alliance.

Stresses Gratitude

The speaker read a portion of the Seventeenth Chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke, dealing with the ten lepers healed, with only one returning to the Master to thank Him. He asserted that one of the hardest questions for him to comprehend is why man should receive over and over again blessings and refuse to recognize the source of his blessings and give thanks. The minister quoted various scriptures bearing on gratitude and thanksgiving along with quotations from Shakespeare and other noted writers.

"Blessings in America do not come in drops and showers, but in floods', the speaker asserted, and then recalled the Pilgrim Fathers proclaimed Thanksgiving Day. He said that 'the Pilgrims thanked God for the things we long since have taken for granted."

Rich Ungrateful

The Rev. Mr. Harmon then declared that those with the greatest blessings and possessions are the least grateful and added that abundance had never bred grati-

FAIRLY LARGE VOTE INDICATED IN BEER ELECTION SATURDAY

POLLS TO OPEN AT 8 AND CLOSE AT 7; SUN TO COMPILE RESULTS

That there will be a fairly large vote Saturday when the question of the legalization of the sale of beer is determined by Navarro county voters is indicated by the 74 absentee votes cast in the county clerk's office.

This figure does not represent as large a number as is seen in the summer primaries, but different conditions exist.

In the summer, scores of teachers are away and many people are on trips and vacations, while at this time of the year most voters are at home.

The polls will open at 8 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m.

The sale of beer in Navarro county is illegal at the present time. The election was recently ordered by the commissioners court on a petition containing more than 800 names.

Where Corsicanans will vote:

Ward 1—David Crockett school, W. F. Morris, judge.

Ward 2—Wm. B. Travis school cafeteria, Miss Lizzie Byrd, judge.

FUNERAL SERVICES PLANNED FRIDAY FOR MRS. EUGENIA STORY

Mrs. Eugenia Carruthers Story, aged 68 years, well-known organist and musician, life-long resident of Corsicana, died at her home 644 West Sixth avenue Wednesday night at 10:15 o'clock. She had been in ill health for some time.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the McCammon Funeral Chapel. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery. The rites will be conducted by Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, pastor of the First Methodist church, of which she was a long-time organist and member.

Mrs Story was the widow of the late I. E. Story.

Surviving are a sister, Miss Alice Carruthers, Corsicana; a brother, V. H. Carruthers, Gatun, Panama; a nephew, Maxwell C. Pierce, Kansas City; and a number of great-nieces and great-nephews.

Pall bearers will be J. M. Pierce, K. L. McKeown, Joe Wolens, Sid Story, Robert Watt, Roy Love and Albert Frey.

End Strike, Negotiate-- Lewis Urged

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Edward R. Burke, a leading spokesman for owners of the idle soft coal mines, proposed today that John L. Lewis call his miners back to work and enter into negotiations with the owners.

Burke told a reporter the plan was "well worth trying" and would be "a very sensible thing" for Lewis to do. He declined to predict any success or failure for such talks, contending this would depend on the "attitude" of the United Mine Workers' chief.

Burke, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, said he had read published reports that Lewis had compromised his wage demands. These reports were that Lewis now is asking the same wage for a 45-hour week as miners now receive for a 54-hour week. He reportedly had been asking for the same pay for a 40-hour week.

Burke's Southern operators group has been the segment of the bituminous industry most opposed, in the past, to accepting even the terms Lewis negotiated with the government. Burke's newly-stated willingness to talk with Lewis appeared highly significant.

"The operators are willing to enter into negotiations with Mr. Lewis at any time," said Burke, a former U. S. senator from Nebraska. "But whether Mr. Lewis has had a change of mind, since he turned down President Truman's suggestion that he negoti-

Weather Is Nearly Perfect In Inland Texas For Holiday

By The Associated Press.

Inland Texas could be thankful today for nearly perfect weather, providing ideal settings for Turkey Day football games.

Snappy, sunshiny conditions ruled over the state except the Gulf Coast, where heavy overnight rains fell and a belt of clouds lingered today.

Galveston had 1.73 inches of rain; Houston 1.05 and Beaumont .30.

El Paso's 32 degres was the only freezing temperature reported last night. Mercury readings generally were up several degres from Tuesday night's lows.

Fairfield Man Is Named Richland School Instructor

John D. Fryer of Fairfield has been announced as the new instructor of the Richland class of Navarro County Vocational schools, by R. L. Evans, coordinator. Fryer will assume his duties December 2.

Fryer will succeed C. A. Rogers, who is now with the Soil Conservation Service.

A graduate of Texas A. and M. College, Fryer holds a B. S. degree from that institution. He spent 39 months in the Army Air Forces and was discharged February 8, 1946. He is a native of Fairfield, Texas.

GENERALISSIMO HINTS RETIREMENT AS NEW GOVERNMENT STUDIED

ASSEMBLY MEETS TO RECEIVE PROPOSED CHINA CONSTITUTION

BY HOWARD K. MILKS

NANKING, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek presented his National Assembly a draft constitution for representative self-government today and in an emotion-packed speech told his countrymen he considered his political career at an end.

The full impact of his words was not immediately clear, but some observers felt Chiang, now 60, was ready to retire altogether as president of the National Government, a position which carries with it command of China's ground, sea and air forces.

Civil War Splits Nation.

China was virtually split asunder by civil war as he spoke The Chinese Communists refused to attend the National Assambely as it was set up and angrily withdrew their chief peace negotiator to Yenan. Fighting went on in North China and Manchuria.

The National Assembly, convoked without the Communists, was tensely silent as the man who led China through eight years of war with Japan rose for his brief speech, the full significance of which has yet to reveal itself.

"I am 60 years old now," he declared in presenting the assembly China's new coalition draft constitution. "In the past 20 years, since Dr. Sun Yat-Sen's death, I have been entrusted with the responsibilities of government.

"No More Ambition."

"Now that the National Assembly has taken over, I have no more political ambition."

There was no immediate indication whether his statement meant he would divest himself of his vast powers.

GANG STEALING UNRRA GOODS IN CHINA IS TARGET OF NEW RAID

SHANGHAI, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Chinese police today arrested six men in efforts to smash what they termed a well-organized gang which has pilfered as yet undetermined millions of U. S. dollars worth of UNRRA supplies from stockpiles turned over to China.

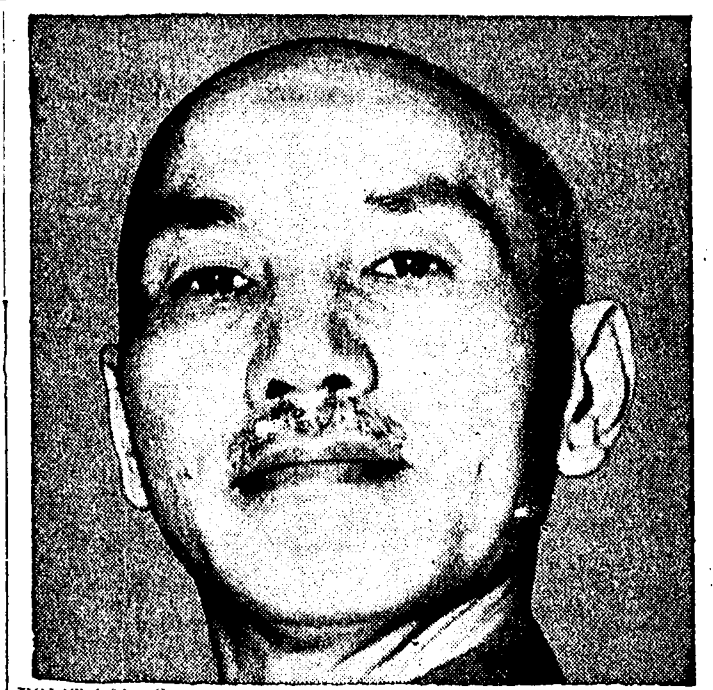
They arrested five Chinese employes of the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (CNRRA) on charges of stealing two truckloads of valuable sheet aluminum, and a Chinese merchant they said bought one of the loads.

The men, police said, made statements implicating several Chinese employes of UNRRA and one Englishman. They predicted further investigation would uncover a first class scandal.

DECISION ON ENDING CONTROLS DELAYED BY REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Republicans will wait till congress meets before they decide whether any existing housing, rent, OPA and priorities controls should be changed or abolished, Senator Millikin (R-Colo) said today.

Millikin, who heads a GOP committee charged with recommending action in this field, told a reporter that controls are disappearing so swiftly that there may not be any needing attention by the time congress convenes.



POLITICAL CAREER 'ENDED'—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek today told his countrymen in an emotion-packed speech he considered his political career at an end. The full impact of his words, delivered to the Chinese national assembly, was not immediately clear. Chiang has been China's virtual ruler for the last 20 years. (AP Wirephoto).

FOREIGN MINISTERS OF BIG FOUR IN AGREEMENT ON TRADE PACT FOR BALKANS; FEW ROWS REMAIN

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—(AP)—The council of foreign ministers, moving swiftly to complete the European peace treaties, had worked out today what appears to be a basic agreement by Russia to open the Balkans to world trade without insisting on guarantees of special economic privileges for herself.

A newly agreed section of the Italian peace pact, it was learned, states that Italy's trade shall be on a most favored nation basis—meaning that any country doing business with Italy can make as good a deal there as any other country. Provision is also made for civil aviation.

Trade Rights Open

Moreover the Big-Four, including Russia, were reported agreed that these sections should also be written into the Romanian, Hungarian and Bulgarian treaties. It was that understanding which diplomats interpreted as the first important postwar move by Russia to allow the western powers a legal

Yanks In Germany Note Blessings On Thanksgiving

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Thanksgiving Day for Americans in Germany was keynoted today by an official admonition to count their blessings.

Maj. Gen. Frank A. Keating, deputy U. S. military governor for Germany, in a proclamation to U. S. occupation forces, said "few nations on earth have more reason to be thankfuul than America. Many have been our blessings in contrast to other people."

"Here in Germany," the proclamation said, "we see the suffering and privations of a defeated nation. It should serve as a warning and we should be thankful. Look beyond the borders of Europe and you will see more grief, despair and starvation. Our difficulties are small compared to theirs. Probably, if we summarized our review of world affairs, we could well be

CHANGE IN RUSSIAN POLICY PRESENTED TO U.N. COMMITTEE

INSPECTION PROPOSAL SUDDENLY ADVOCATED BY SOVIET MINISTER

By MAX HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov 28—(AP)—Soviet Russia called on the United Nations today to "put an end to the arms race which has begun" and create an international system of controls and inspection to guarantee proposed agreements for reduction of armaments and outlawing atomic weapons.

In a sharp departure from the previous Russian position, Soviet Foreign Minister, V. M. Molotov supplemented his original four-point arms reduction plan by proposing the creation of machinery to enforce decisions both on general and on atomic weapons in particular.

Molotov spoke before the 54-nation political committee of the U. N. assembly as it opened debate on disarming after giving final approval to a closely linked plan for international troop census to be taken by Jan. 1, 1947, with Russia dissenting on the scope of that inquiry.

Veto Dispute Shelved

For a few moments an Australian effort to renew the fight on the big power veto threatened to delay debate on the arms question, but Australian delegate Paul Hasluck finally agreed to bring up the veto later in the week.

Molotov's new proposals took the delegates by surprise and resulted in mixed reaction.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, British delegate, said he warmly welcomed the Soviet move and declared that "there must be means to assure that the nations are in fact disarming."

"We must have inspection and control of troops and equipment and armaments," Shawcross declared. "The United Kingdom is ready to open her doors wide. We are glad the Soviet Union now is ready to allow such a system."

Inspection Plan Discussed

Shawcross added that any system for controls and inspections "must not be affected by any veto." The brief Soviet proposal made no mention of the veto, one of the major points at issue in previous discussions of atomic control. The United States had insisted that the veto be eliminated from any atomic control plan, but Russia has firmly refused to surrender her veto power.

Canadian and Australian delegates said they were not satisfied that the Soviet proposals went far enough and both offered amendments, giving more in detail their ideas of the control machinery.

OPPOSITION TO PROBE OF OCCUPATION RILES G.O.P. CONGRESSMEN

VIEW EXPRESSED THAT ADMINISTRATION IS "HIDING SOMETHING"

BY FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The Democratic party-line vote rejecting a senate committe investigation of American military governments stirred up an angry storm today with Republicans contending the Administration must be hiding "something wrong."

The four Republicans on the senate war investigating committee—once headed by Harry S. Truman—asserted, too, that the administration must be trying to destroy public confidence in the committee in fear it may be "a valuable asset to congress after Jan. 3" when the Republicans will take control of it.

In New York Senator Connally (D-Tex), a member of the committee, told reporters he considered the proposed investigation 'outside the jurisdiction" of the group and an "interference with foreign affairs."

The Republicans — Brewster of Maine, Ball of Minnesota, Ferguson of Michigan, and Knowland of California—issued a statement after the Democratic majority, by a 6-4 vote, cancelled a long projected inquiry into the operation of military governments in Germany and Austria.

The minority said that vote forced them to the conclusions:

"First, that the administration is seeking desperately to conceal something wrong in the administration of occupied areas.

"Second, that the administration, with the aid of Democratic members of the committee, is now seeking to destroy public confidence in a committee which has enjoyed an unusually fine reputation because it fears that the committee

Russians Not Shot On Purpose, U.N. Delegate Informed

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes today rejected a charge by Foreign Minister Dmitri Manuilsky of the Soviet Ukraine that a deliberate effort was made to kill two members of his United Nations delegation here on Nov. 21.

Gregory Stadnik was shot in the hip when he and Alexis Volna entered a delicatessen on 58ht street shortly after midnight of Nov. 21. The bullet was fired by one of two unknown men who police said were robbing the store.

Byrnes officially notified Manuilsky of this police view, expressed regret at the shooting of Stadnik and declared that Police Commissioner Arthur Wallender had assured him that the police "are doing everything in their power to apprehend the perpatrators of this crime."

At Lake Success headquarters of the United Nations, Manuilsky said he had not yet received Byrnes' reply, and might comment when it was received. The Ukrainian delegate, chairman of the powerful U. N. political and security committee, added: "I am waiting for the capture of the criminals."

CHURCH, REST TRUMAN SLATE

BY RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—President Truman attended Thanksgiving Day services today at historic Christ Church in Alexandria, Va.

Accompanined by Mrs. Truman, the President appeared unheralded at the Episcopal church where George Washington and Robert E. Lee worshipped.

The services began at 10 a. m. (EST). The Trumans returned immediately afterwards to the White House.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman occupied the Christ Church pew which belonged to the first President.

The Rev. Braxton Comer Lile, rector of the church, took for the theme of his sermon the 17th chapter of Luke, the story of the 10 men cured of leprosy and of only one who returned to give thanks.

"Such ingratitude exists even today," the pastor said.

Only about 60 persons were present for the services.

Looking out over the sparsely filled church, the Rev. Mr. Lile commented:

"The reasons that our churches on this Thanksgiving Day contain so few worshippers giving thanks to God for His blessings while the football stadia are jammed, is that we too at times areforgetful of God's blessings."

THANKSGIVING "CHIT'LINS" FEAST DELAYED MONTHS BY BATTLES IS ONE OF WRITER'S WAR MEMORIES

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP)—If the thought of turkey hash tomorrow wearies you, hearken to the tale of a delayed Thanksgiving dinner in wartime—the first "champagne and chit'lin" party ever held on the Western front.

The promoter was Lt. Roy Wilder, on leave at the presidents' request from the New York Herald Tribune.

When the First Army Press camp was squatting in a cow pasture in Normandy that had been cleared of German mines, there came a package from Spring Hope, N. C.

Jar of Cht'lins.

"A quart jar of chit'lins from mom!" whooped Wilder.

He had to explain to all the Damnyankees around that "chit'lins"—the dictionary calls them chitterlings and says they are the small intestines of a pig prepared for eating—are highly savory to homesick gentlemen from below the Mason-Dixon line.

Roy, together with Lindley Nelson, a Knoxville newspaperman then with the Ninth Infantry division, and Don Whitehead of the Associated Press, gathered around the holy jar and swore a great oath on the memory of Stonewall Jackson.

"We'll eat these chit'lins in Germany on Thanksgiving!"

Carried Through Europe.

Roy put the jar in a padded box. The box bounced safely across France, into Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Came Thanksgiving and the First Army had a big toehold in Germany. But the boys couldn't all get together, so the party was postponed.

The jar of chit'lins retreated along with the army during the Battle of the Bulge, and nobody felt like a party that black Christmas.

Next March the army pushed across the Rhine at Remagen, so Roy decided that was worth celebrating with the chit'lins. At midnight Roy woke up the cook and had him light the army gasoline stove.

DECISION ON HOUSING MIXUP BY MONDAY DEMANDED OF TRUMAN BY HEAD OF EMERGENCY AGENCY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt was reported today to be pressing President Truman for a showdown by Monday on the row within the administration over housing policies.

A close friend told reporters that Wyatt had advised Mr. Truman that he would like to know by then whether there will be a White House "reaffirmation" of his powers.

Associates of the Housing Chief have said repeatedly that if Wyatt is given a definite "no" he will step out of his job.

Wyatt Won't Resign.

After a visit to the White House yesterday, Wyatt was asked by a reporter whether he planned to resign.

"No, sir," he replied.

But later a housing official said Wyatt meant only that he had not resigned at that time, and did not consider the question as covering any future intentions.

Wyatt is at odds with Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the War Assets Administration and the Civilian Production Administration over his powers.

RFC Refuses Loans.

RFC has declined to make loans Wyatt requested for prospective builders of pre-fabricated housing. WAA has declined to honor an order from Wyatt that it turn a surplus plant in Chicago over to pre-fabricated housing. With CPA, there are differences over allocations of certain materials.

Wyatt's view is that he has power to require that these agencies accept his decisions. He wants Mr. Truman to tell them they must, since they won't do it now. That would be the "reaffirmation" he asks.

NEW TROUBLE FEARED IN IRAN

TEHRAN, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The Azerbaijan provincial government, apparently on the verge of reasserting its independence, was reported today to be erecting fortifications in the path of Iranian Government troops dispatched from Terhan to supervise elections in that Northern state.

The Tehran newspaper Etelaat reporter that Azerbaijan forces under Gen. Daneshian were hastily building defense works near the Azerbaijan frontier about 65 miles north of Zenjan, from which Iranian troops yesterday were said to be advancing toward the border.

The reports followed a radio broadcast from Tabriz, Azerbaijan capital, declared that the troop movement hd violated agreements between th Provincial and Central governments and that Azerbaijan now considered these agreements "nil and cancelled."

Premier Ahmed Qavam replied to the broadcast by dispatching a message to Dr. Salamollah Javid, governor-general of Azerbaijan province, reaffirming his intention of sending security forces to Azerbaijan to maintain order during the coming national elections.

LUCKY UNITED STATES CITIZENS HAVE MUCH FOR WHICH TO GIVE THANKS AMID PEACE AND PLENTY

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst.

As for many years past, Americans come to their traditional feast day in an atmosphere of international tension and domestic difficulties.

Our Allies no longer stand closely with us as during the war, and at home we are torn by industrial strife. Although as individuals we are probably more comfortable than for many years, as a nation we are apprehensive, doubtful of our ability to solve our problems either at home or abroad.

Yet looking back over the years, we find many grounds for thankfulness that fears have proved unfounded, for dangers surpassed.

By Thanksgiving time in 1939 Adolf Hitler had plunged the world into war.

A year later France was a shambles, Nazi invasion boats lined the Channel coast, and Americans fought with lumps in their throats to fill the supply lines to a little island off Europe which stood as a lone barrier between the beast and all the rest of mankind.

Thanksgiving of 1942 found our men and ships embroiled with the enemy from the Solomons to Africa, the eyes of the world were on the bitter German attempt to capture Stalingead, and Hitler had just taken over all of France and the French had scuttled their fleet at Toulon.

On Thanksgiving Day of 1943 brief announcements told Ameri-

Jurahee Butler, Ivan T. Sanders Of Kerens, Wed

The marriage of Miss Jurahee Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Ford Butler of Dallas, to Ivan Terry Sanders, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Sanders of Kerens was solemnized on Thursday evening, November 21st at Munger Place Methodist Church with the Rev. Ennis B. Hill officiating.

The wedding music was furnished by Mrs. George C. Cochran, organist, and Mrs. George Eubanks of Kerens, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin gown with a deep sheer yoke outlined with tiny clusters of seed pearls. The fitted bodice was designed with a dropped waistline, and tiny satin-covered buttons down the back. The voluminous hooped skirt extended into a chapel-length train. The veil of illusion fell from a poke bonnet brim of shirred illusion. The bride carried a lace handkerchief belonging to her grandmother. Her modern colonial bouquet was of white carnations and stephanotis, showered with satin ribbon and white maline.

Maid of Honor

Miss Martha Ford Butler served her sister as maid of honor, and Mrs. George B. Hearne was matron of honor.

Sam H. Gainor was best man. Groomsman was George B. Hearne and ushers were Joe Terry and Bob Campbell.

Assisting in serving at the reception held at Melrose Hotel after the creemony were Misses Dorothy Eubank and Virginia Wilson, and Mmes. W. A. Bonner of Amarillo and H. C. Henderson.

After a wedding trip to Houston, Galveston and other Gulf cities, the couple will be at home at 5253 Monticello Avenue, Dallas.

Mrs. Sanders attended Baylor University, and Mr. Sanders, a senior student at Southwestern Medical College, attended Schreiner Military Institute, Baylor University and Cornell University. He is a member of Phi Beta Pi.

Out-of-Town Guests

Among the Kerens friends who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George Eubanks, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gray, H. A. Quaite, Mrs. J. B. Coates, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Walker, Mrs. J. A. Anderson, Mrs. W. J. Bain, Mrs. H. W. Hoffer.

Other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Sanders of Canton; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Coates of Denton; Mrs. Tandy Belew of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Keyser of Lubbock. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler, Mrs. W. A. Bonner, Mrs. H. C. Henderson of Amarillo.

NEW CONSTITUTIONS

Japan and France are struggling with new constitutions. Both, though differently, are expressions of the concept of democracy spreading through the world.

The Japanese people had theirs handed them by conquerors acting as liberators, surely an unusual happening for a defeated nation. The new order is revolutionary. A people who had worshipped their emperor as an all-powerful god, now are themselves sovereign. For the first time Nippon's men and women, too, have rights as to work and wages, franchise, education, place of residence. They have freedom of speech, of religion, of assembly. Many students of Japan feel that the country's apparent ready and docile adjustment to these changes is, to a considerable extent, superficial and aimed to quicken withdrawal of foreign forces. This is one reason for the long term plans of the United States for occupying Japan. A new generation must grow up, trained in democracy.

In France, self-government is an old idea. The new constitution includes very few interpretations of human rights. Great power rests with the National Assembly, roughly corresponding to the American House. There is recognition of collective bargaining, control of strikes, the participation of workers in management, and provision for nationalization of certain industries. There is provision for "limitation of sovereign power necessary to the organization of peace." This opens the way for a United Nations to function as a world unit —a very long step indeed.

The war travail has brought forth renewed democracy in two different nations, Japan and France, on opposite sides of the globe.

TRUMAN'S RESIGNATION

President Truman should appoint a Republican secretary of state, says Democratic Senator James W. Fulbright of Arkansas, and then resign, so that a Republican president may be on hand to cooperate with the new Republican Congress.

This would be an epoch-making step indeed, and go far toward transforming the American presidential system into the British parliamentary. There the premier resigns as soon as the House of Commons votes against him.

Just 30 years ago President Wilson seriously contemplated this very step. Negotiations with Germany over submarine warfare were at a ticklish stage. Had Wilson lost the election to Charles E. Hughes, a period from November to March would have intervened in which the country was ruled by a defeated president. Mr. Wilson's renomination made the step unnecessary.

The argument is that otherwise we are in for two years of trouble. Against that might be said that the voters knew all that, and did not object. President Truman would do a startling thing if he gave up the office which he is constitutionally entitled to fill for two more years. It would seem like running out on trouble; and whatever other faults he has, this is not one.

Walter Lippman, however, argues that the founding fathers had some such possibility in mind when they were working on the Constitution, and did not expect any president to hold office long without being elected. Elections mid-term would bring us even nearer the English parliamentary system. Charles A Beard, in The Republic, concludes that our system suits us better.

LATER THAN YOU THINK

A rocket bomb with even greater range than those used by the Germans is said to have been devised by the War Department. Now the search is for open space in the Pacific or elsewhere, so that bombs carrying much farther may be tested without hitting anything vital.

Does anyone believe that the United States is the only country which is conducting this kind of research, or the only country that is doing it successfully? Unless some means are found of putting armament research under international control, civilization will lose its race with calamity.

AUTUMN PRUNING

How free and bare the trees stand forth now! They've junked their old leaves and are content to stretch their naked branches skyward. Unfettered, clean they reach to revel in the winds of winter.

Fall's a good time for house cleaning. Nature points the way. Homes must now and then have the clutter of things swept out, and room made for a little emptiness, an invigorating sense of space.

People need prunings and clearings, too, of their haphazard collections of ideas and prejudices. They need to straighten up their thinking.

Various otherwise well-informed Americans haven't yet been able to figure out who are what is or are Gromyko.

THANKSGIVING

Home for Thanksgiving! the table stretched out;
The old and the young once more gathered about.
The little hands folded, and bowed every head,
As grace before dinner by someone is said.
All eyes on the carver, who stands at the mark
And asks the old question of: "Light meat or dark?"

The drumsticks and wishbone. All carvers must know
Those parts of the turkey to children must go.
The dressing! Unless he's reminded, I'll bet
That's something the carver will surely forget.
The voice of the father then sounding the call:
"Get busy and eat! Second helpings for all!"

Time was that dinner was ours to provide.
At the doorway flung open we stood side by side,
The mother and I. But her spirit has flown.
And now comes Thanksgiving—and I am alone!
But still, as she wished us to keep it I'll try,
Although at the table the odd man am I.

A prayer for Thanksgiving! Dear Lord, we are glad
And grateful this day for the blessings we've had;
For faith that sustains us at times we must weep,
For the memories golden, we tenderly keep.
Thanksgiving! For her we are keeping it still!
Lord, grant us the courage, we bow to Thy will.

ADEQUATE WIRING SAID TO PROVIDE MORE HOME COMFORT

Adequate wiring with plenty of electrical outlets makes rooms more comfortable, convenient, and adaptable to furniture arrangement, says Eva Sue Merritt, county Home Demonstration agent. She offers several suggestions for those planning to build or remodel their homes.

In the living room, Miss Merritt advises placing duplex outlets so that no point at the floor line is more than six feet from an outlet. In each smaller space three feet or more in length, she suggests placing an additional outlet. This makes it possible to place furniture where desired.

In the bedrooms, include triplex outlets near each bed and behind dressing tables for lamps, clocks, heating pads, radio or electric blankets. Also remember the convenience of lighting in the closets.

Place lights at the head and foot of each stairway. A night light in the upper hall will insure safety to children, invalids and guests. Duplex outlets near a hall table or chest allow for lamps or a vacuum cleaner when cleaning.

Kitchen needs include plenty of outlets at counter height to take care of all present and probable future needs. Lights are necessary over the sink and food preparation counters.

CORNERSTONE LAYING AT NEW IOOF HOME SET FOR JAN. 25

Cornerstone ceremonies for the new IOOF Home under construction here have tentatively been set for Sunday, January 25, 1947, at 2:30 p. m., according to an article appearing in the November issue of the IOOF News of Texas, quoting Mike Peveto, Beaumont, grand master, and Frank Rundell, Austin, general chairman of the reconversion program and contractor for the building.

Officials report satisfactory progress being made on the new building.

The largest crowd ever to gather at the IOOF Home here is expected. Every lodge in Texas will be asked to send representatives and plans are now under way in various parts of the state to charter special buses for the occasion.

"The project is unique in many respects," remarked Grand Master Peveto; "for while other Homes even larger have been built, this is being constructed from free-will gifts alone." No amount has been assessed against the membership and no stipulation as to amount for members to contribute was suggested other than to be as liberal as possible. Many gifts from persons not members of the IOOF have been received.

The new Home includes 35 rooms 11x14 feet, with bath and linen closets between each rooms.

This project is being constructed on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The new construction consists of large winge to the east and west of the administration building.

Angus Girl Is Bride Of Emhouse Resident

Miss Annie Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bailey of Angus, was married to Randall Tinkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Tinkle of Emhouse, Saturday night, Nov. 23. The couple were married by the Baptist preacher of Wilmer.

Attending the couple were Lerline Jones, Clarence Bonner and R. L. Cox of Corsicana.

The bride wore a navy blue dress with black accessories. She is an employe of the Corsicana Cotton Mill.

The bridegroom is the owner of a Magnolia service station in Emhouse. The couple will make their home for the present at 412 West Tenth avenue.

District Supervisor To Visit Local ACA

Mooney, who is a native of McKinney, Tex., succeeds Tim Moore of College Station in the district supervisor's capacity. He was formerly ACA administrator in Collin county.

JUDGE A. P. MAYS SCORES HOME AS RESPONSIBLE FOR GROWING JUVENILE DELINQUENCY PROBLEM

A. P. Mays, distrct judge, was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Optimist Club last night at Corana Inn. Judge Mays, who was introduced by Dr. Wells Stephens, program chairman, spoke on juvenile delinquency and the factors which cause it.

The speaker said, in opening his talk, that his subject was one of the greatest that he could speak upon, in that it was about American boys and girls. He said that the legal definition of a juvenile delinquent was a girl of 19 years or less, or a boy of 17 or less, who was a public ward, or who had violated a juvenile statute.

Crime Increases.

Quoting statistics on the increase of crime in recent years, Judge Mays said, "Crime has increased tremendously in the last two years and 58 ped cent of the crimes committeed in the last two and a half years have been committed by juveniles."

In the State of Texas alone there has been in increase of 54 per cent in the number of cases field since 1944, he said. Referring to social crimes, he pointed out that there had been an increase of 375 per cent among delinquent girls since 1929. In placing the blame for this upsurge of crime, Judge Mays said that it was a terrible indictment of the homes, and possibly of the churches and schools, that such an increase had been allowed.

Homes to Blame.

"Many children these days," he stated, "never learn the true philosophy of religion, due to the fact that in his home, no one encourages him to attend church and school, or leads him to believe that he is an integral and loved part of his family and home."

Ninety per cent of the juveniles coming before his court, he said, give as their reason for their misdoing the fact that no one loves or cares for them.

"Many husbands and wives apparently are so concerned with their own personal problems that they give little thought and time to their children," the speaker stated, adding that "marriage is the basis of our civilization and divorce is a prime cause of juvenile delinquency."

Sending a child to a training school did little or no good toward correcting his delinquency, hence solving not at all the problem. He stated that an institution which was as much like a home as was possible to make it, a place with wholesome surroundings where the child would be given responsibilities and love, was the solution of what to do with an apparently incorrigible delinquent. Due to the fact that no such place exists, it is a grave matter to decide to commit a child to a place which might make a hardened criminal of him.

"When you people elected me to the bench," Mays said, "I was not much of a praying man. Since I have been on the bench and have had to make so many difficult decisions regarding domestic and juvenile problems, prayer has very often been my only guidance."

Mays, in making an appeal to the Optimist Club and to the community in general, said that in years past many philanthropists in this county and city have left money to provide for foundations which helped people who were unable to help themselves. But, he said, this had not been adequate and much more help was needed.

He said that a boys' community could be created in this area which could and would reclaim boys. "This," said Judge Mays, "would be practical, and not theoretical, Christianity, and such a project would be a lasting monument to it's builders."

In closing his address, the sepaker pointed an accusing finger at some present day homes and said that the trouble could well be parental delinquency, rather than child delinquency.

Embray Ferguson and W. R. Thompson reported on a program covering a year's activities for boys, including the bicycle race in December, an oratorical contest next February, a kite tourney in March, a marble contest in May, with a turtle derby and skating contest in July and September, respectively.

Winners will be determined on a point scoring system and awards of cash or merchandise will be given in all contests.

Standings in the current attendance race were announced by John Pugh, secretary, and the team captained by L. A. Vaughn and Homer Widener was leading by five points.

Members of the club enujoyed a dinner of barbecued venison, furnished as a result of the prowess of the club president, Jack Stroubc. Robert Cason was introduced as a visitor. Program for the next meeting will be under the direction of Silas Fry and Basil Coe, it was announced by Rufus Shell, program director.

Open Letter To The Voters

Corsicana, Texas,
November 29, 1946.

Dear Friends—

On Saturday you will be called upon to vote on the legalization of the sale of beer in our County. This open letter is not intended to tell you how you should vote, but its hoped that the facts and figures given below will enable you to determine how your vote can best serve the County and all of us in it.

A RETURN TO THE SALE OF BEER WOULD IMMEDIATELY PROVIDE WORK FOR AT LEAST 500 PERSONS. We have heard about bringing a ceramics plant or a hat factory or some other manufacturing concern to our county. None of these could provide employment for more than a hundred persons. Legalization of beer would provide jobs with distributors, wholesalers and retailers, and would provide a source of income for many job-seekers.

LEGALIZATION OF BEER WILL STOP BOOTLEGGING IN NAVARRO COUNTY. In spite of all efforts of our law enforcement officers, who are doing their duties conscientiously, the sale of whiskey cannot be completely eliminated. Whiskey can be bought by any person interested in obtaining it, and our young people turn to the bootlegger when a harmless bottle of beer would certainly be less intoxicating and less injurious. The bootlegger of whiskey, who pays no taxes but charges high prices for his stock, can be practically put out of business by legalizing the sale of beer.

WHY KEEP NAVARRO COUNTY DRY AS TO BEER, WHEN BEER IS SOLD ON ALL SIDES OF US! If the truth were known, at least $3,000.00 per week —money that should be kept at home—goes to Dallas, Mexia and Waco. Anybody can get a case of beer in any of these cities and bring it back with him. We accomplish nothing by keeping this county dry except to send our money to other counties.

LEGALIZATION OF THE SALE OF BEER WILL BRING IN TO THE COUNTY MUCH NEEDED REVENUE. Each licensee will pay to the City and county from $50.00 to $200.00 for his license. Truck registration fees, distributors licenses, personal property taxes, and other fixed charges will be collected as taxes by our City and County. At the present time no revenue is derived from illegal sales by bootleggers or from sales made in adjoining or nearby towns and counties.

It is our firm conviction that the return of beer to our county will work to the advantage of all—morally, financially, and legally. But we are interested in our City and County, and we are convinced that legalization of the sale of beer will make business conditions better.

If you can agree with us on any of these points, we hope you will join us in voting for the best interests of our County.

Sincerely,

Navarro County For Legalized Beer Committee

LOCAL FLIER GETS CONTRACT FOR AIR PIPELINE PATROL

T. H. Hogle, local airport operator and aviator, revealed Monday he had signed a contract with the Texas Pipeline Company to patrol by air the line from Corsicana to Concord, a distance of 65 miles. O. W. Allison, an employe of the pipeline company here, accompanies Hogle as observer, it was stated. The distance from Corsicana to Concord is 65 miles and a double-check is made on the return trip.

The first trip was made Monday, Hogle revealed, and one small leak was discovered. The patrols will be each Monday and oftener if necessary.

A Piper Cub plane is used and the patrol is made at a height of about 200 feet.

A number of pipelines are using air patrols throughout the Southwest, replacing the patrolling afoot that was in effect for years.

CLUB NEWS

The Pickett Home Demonstration Club met in regular session with Mrs. Fortner presiding in the absence of Mrs. Ingham, the president. Miss Eva Sue Merritt, county home demonstration agent, was present as a visitor.

Plans for the club's Christmas party December 17 were completed and a refreshment course was served, after which the meeting was adjournd. Eight members were present.

Sergeant Leah Beth Mitchell To Receive Overseas Assignment

First Sgt. Leah Beth Mitchell of the Woman's Army Corps, on a delay en route from Fort Sheridan, Ill., to Camp Kilmer, N. J., for overseas assignment, left on Tuesday for Dallas after a short visit with her mother, Mrs. R. B. Mitchell.

Sgt. Mitchell enplaned at Dallas for Cincinnati, Ohio, where she will be met by a friend, Miss Janis Paeltz, of Russellville, Ohio, whom she will accompany to Greenbrier College, Lewisburg, W. Va., to spend Thanksgiving with Miss Paeltz' sister, Miss Patricia Paeltz, a student at Greenbrier, before reporting for duty.

Plan Rites Friday State Home Student

Audrey Wilbur Darnell, aged 10 years, student in the State Home, died in the Home hospital Wednesday night. Funeral rites are to be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Ponta church near Rusk, with interment in the Myrtle Springs cemetery. Rheumatic fever was ascribed as the cause of death. The youngster had been in the hospital two years.

Surviving are four brothers, Dolphus and Thomas Darnell, both of the State Home; James Darnell, Terrell, and Hubert Darnell, Ponta; three sisters, Mrs. R. A. Dickens and Mrs. Ida Rockett, both of Dallas, and Mrs. Lula Samples, Terrell.

The lad was admitted to the home August 10, 1941, from Ponta, Cherokee county.

Corley Funeral Home will direct.

In And Out Of Service

T-4 William H. Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tucker of Corsicana, Route 1, has received his honorable discharge from the army at Fort Sam Houston.

Tucker, with 49 months in the service, spent the last nine months as a cook at Brooks Army Medical Center in San Antonio.

"Ho wyou want 'em—semi-crisp?" said Roy, emptying the precious innards into a skillet. He wouldn't trust the cook a Northerner, to do the frying.

"Crisp," said Don.

"Any damn way," said Lindsey.

The smell of crisping chit'lins rolled through the copy room. As they finished their stories, the muddy correspondents trooped in uninvited and poined the party.

German Liquor Used.

Champagne corks were popping, cognac bottles flowing from several cases donated by pals in the 94th Division which had just overrun a German liquor dump containing 99,000 bottles, all full.

"Ain't that something—champagne and chit'lins in Germany?" staid Roy. "Shoulda had some turnip greens, watermelon pickles, black-eyed peas and cornbread."

the President to carve today for his wife and a few friends was sent him by Boston newsboys. It arrived at the White House three weeks ahead of one sent by former Senator Wilton E. Hall, Anderson, S. C., publisher.

Mrs. Truman and Mrs. Mary Sharpe, White House housekeeper, puzzled over which bird to cook and then decided: "First come, first served."

Furthermore, the newsboys' turkey, weighing 18 1-2 pounds, was considered just the right size for the President's small Thanksgiving gathering. Hall's fine 25-pound bird and two other turkey gifts have been placed in cold storage for future reference.

The President is hoping for a quiet restful day—as much so as he can have amid the fearful coal strike situation.

right of equal trade opportunities in those courtries.

These economic decisions came unexpectedly last night after a series of Big-Four compromises, built mostly on concessions by Soviet Freign Minister Molotov, had finally settled the long-raging dispute over Trieste.

This disposed of Molotov's earlier demand for a deadline on withdrawal of American, British and Yugoslav troops from Trieste by providing in effect, that the governor should decide when they might safely be withdrawn.

Danube Only Issue

The Trieste development narrowed the council's work to one major issue—free navigation on the Danube—and one now comparatively minor issue—reparations to be paid by Italy and Bulgaria.

Molotov appeared to be standing firm on his insistence that the Danube issue should be handled entirely outside the peace treaties. Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin had not relaxed their demands for inclusion of a clause guaranteeing free navigation of the river.

Break Is Seen

However, a possible break in the deadlock was seen by some diplomats in the fact Molotov circulated among the others a proposal they agree on calling a 10-nation Danube conference, including the western powers, to set up a kind of Danube navigation administration.

This did not cover the question of establishing a policy on free use of the river, but there was some belief it might lead to an agreement in future sessions.

ate with the operators, I do not know."

No Lewis Comment.

Lewis could not be reached for comment on Burke's plan.

Lewis, under sharp judicial rebuke for not halting the great coal strike, faced an uphill battle to clear himself of a contempt charge.

As his hearing stood in recess for Thanksgiving Day, it was clear the opening skirmishing had not gone well for Lewis' contention that he could lawfully disregard Judge T. Alan Goldsborough's order to withdraw "termination" of his United Mine Workers contract.

Out of a welter of legal argument the one point standing out starkly was Judge Goldsborough's observation on that order. He said that Lewis and his United Mine Workers were "guilty of contempt" if they disregarded it irrespective of whether his court had the power to issue an injunction forbidding a work stoppage so long as the government holds the mines.

"Anarchy" Warning Sounded.

And he said it was "anarchy" when individuals gave no heed to orders from the courts.

By the token of that language, Lewis has lost his motion for immediate dismissal of the contempt charge—unless his eight-man legal battery comes up with some argument more impressive to Judge Goldsborough than those used thus far.

A ruling on the motion may come soon after the hearing is resumed at 10 a. m., EST, tomorrow.

Lewis Argument Given.

Lewis' attorneys, arguing for quashing the contempt charge, contended that Goldsborough's order imposed "involuntary servitude on 400,000 miners" by barring termination of their contract.

Lewis' termination of the contract was effective last Wednesday midnight. The walkout, now in its eighth day, already is pinching off operations in coal-dependent industries employing thousands.

Led by Joseph A. Padway, chief counsel for the American Federation of Labor, Lewis' defense contended, too, that the Norrs-LaGuarda act, whch lmits the use of injunctions in labor disputes, made Goldsborough's restraining order invalid.

Keating urged Americans to "unite our thoughts and efforts toward permanent peace and happiness throughout the world."

Official American duties were put aside everywhere for the day, which began with church services. Army messes, Red Cross anad other American clubs served traditional turkey dinners.

tude in the hearts of men. The speaker then aded that a homeless man was grateful for a one-room apartment, while a man with a mansion grumbles about the size of the closets in his rooms; these enslaved appreciate and value freedom; those blind appreciate sight; those hungry appreciate bread.

Money Will Not Save

The minister then referred to the huge bank statements of deposite in this country and department stores expecting record breaking sales records during the approaching Christmas-time, and the reports of record-breaking crop production this year. Then the speaker told the story of the rich man who tore down his barns and built larger ones and planned to eat, drink and be merry—of the conclusion of the story whereby the man's soul was required of him. The Rev Mr. Harmon then said that this could apply to "our Uncle Sammie" as America is rich and great, but asked was it not correct that we judge a man by his trappings and not his soul and character. He asserted that planning hoards; as great as they are; banks, and material possessions will not save America.

Turning to another portion of his address, the minister again spoke of only one of the ten cleansed lepers returning to thank Christ for his healing, although all must have been grateful in their hearts. He then asked where Corsicanans would spend Thanksgiving Day.

Shall We Be Thankful

Answering his own qcestion the speaker asserted that some will spend the day trying to win an election for the return of vice in this area, others will attend family reunions, make trips, etc.

"The question is shall we be truly thankful to the source of all good," the Rev. Mr. Harmon asked, and then referred to the 20 million people starving in Asia, the broken skylines of European cities in comparison with our unbroken skylines, and the Polish children starving.

"Let us remember that our fathers and forefathers lived the hard way in order that we might enjoy blessings," the speaker added, and then spoke of the Son of Man not having a place to lay His head while on earth, of His feeding 5,000 and after they returned to their homes, He went into the mountain to pray, and described his praying for those responsible for his death as he was dying on the Cross.

Special Music

Hymns given by the joint chorus choir and the congreagtion during the service included "Come Ye Thankful People Come," "Prayer of Thinksgiving," "Praise Ye the Lord, O Jerusalem," "Rise Up, O Men of God."

The opening prayer was given By Dr. Jos. N Shapiro, rabbi, Agudas Achim synagogue. The Old Testament Scripture was read by Dr. Ernest Grey, rabbi, Temple Beth-El, while the New Testament Scripture was read by Rev. M. C. Bledsoe, pastor of the Central Methodist church.

Rev. Finis A. Crutchfield, district superintendent, Methodist church, conducted the offering.

Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, pastor of the host church, presided, while Rev. Jared J Cartlidge, pastor of First Baptist church, pronounced the benediction.

Mrs. Veola Short, choir director of the First Methodist church, directed the joint chorus choir, while Miss Jewel Taylor was organist at the service.

Other Services

The Eleventh Avenue Methodist and Memorial Baptist congregations held a joint Thanksgiving service at the Methodist church Wednesday evening, with Rev. W. L. Murdaugh, pastor of the Baptist congregation bringing the message.

A special Thanksgiving Mass was held at the church of the Immaculate Conception at 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

Christian Science Services were held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. A Presbyterian Union service was held at the First Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, while a Lutheran service was held at the YMCA at 10 o'clock.

Stores Closed

Who Wants Liquor Back In Navarro County?

NOT the Churches.
NOT the Christian Mothers and Fathers.
NOT the Children.
NOT the Young People.
NOT the School Teachers.
NOT the Law Enforcement Officers.

HERE ARE THE FELLOWS WHO WANT LIQUOR BACK IN NAVARRO COUNTY:

This liquor election has been promoted by the breweries, the distilleries, and underworld interests—mostly from outside the county.

HERE ARE THE ONLY REASONS WHY ANYBODY WANTS LIQUOR BACK IN NAVARRO COUNTY:

The liquor traffic sees a vast potential market and a great opportunity to EXPLOIT HUMANITY THROUGH THE WEAKNESS OF THOSE WHO CANNOT RESIST.

MAKE NO MISTAKE! Dollars are what the liquor traffic is after! Even at the cost of millions of wrecked lives!

SOME REASONS WHY WE MUST NOT VOTE LIQUOR BACK INTO NAVARRO COUNTY:

Drunkenness will be greatly increased.

Bring back liquor and you bring back the HONKEYTONKS, BEER JOINTS, CHEAP DANCE HALLS.

Contribute to the use of more foodstuffs while millions are starving in other lands thereby using sugar and wheat that could be directed to those in need.

Starvation is still rampant—throughout the world. Food products should not be used for liquor when people are in need.

Navarro county is the home of a new College. Beer taverns would be an open temptation to our young people and would result in wrecked lives. We prefer life to liquor.

To return liquor to Navarro County would mean a marked increase in crime. Liquor is the basic cause of 80 per cent of all crime.

The return of liquor means an increase in broken homes. Liquor is a contributing factor in 90 per cent of all divorces.

Public access to liquor would result in more accidents.

Liquor and venereal disease go hand in hand.

Alcoholism is a disease; it is fourth in causes of insanity.

MARK YOUR BALLOT THUS:

SAMPLE BALLOT

"FOR ~~Legalizing the sale of beer that does not contain alcohol in excess of four (4%) per centum by weight."~~

"AGAINST Legalizing the sale of beer that does not contain alcohol in excess of four (4%) per centum by weight."

ROAD MATTERS ARE DISCUSSED TUESDAY BY COMMISSIONERS

There is a balance of $2,353.43 in the county treasury from the Purdon Road District No. 2, but the commissioners court cannot spend the money for road purposes. it was revealed at a special meeting of the court held Tuesday afternoon.

The road district in question is located within Precinct 4. Drew Gillen, who retires as county commissioner January 1, 1947, and J. N. (Joe) George, incoming commissioner, asked whether that money could be expended on farm-to-market roads in the Purdon district. If such a matter could be legally carried out, the two agreed that it could be used to setting back fence, etc., on farm-to-market roads.

J. C. Roe, county attorney, legal adviser for the court, ruled that the money in that fund belonged to the people who paid it into the treasury and the court did not have the legal right to expend it for road purposes.

The citizens of that area voted bonds more than 20 years ago to construct roads and the commissioners court levied taxes to retire the bonds and pay interest. Subsequently the bonds were cancelled and not sold, causing the money to be unused.

E. Y. Cunningham, county auditor, said a few citizens had been re-imbursed for the amount they had paid in to the fund, but only two or three had availed themselves of the refund.

Members of the court suggested that an effort be made to have a bill passed transferring the money, but Roe is of the opinion that if such a procedure was carried out, the money would probably be earmarked for the general fund. He said that a suit might be brought in the district court seeking an order transferring the money into a spendable fund, but expressed some doubts against that matter.

All members of the court and Commissioner-Elect George attended the meeting. The court also met on road matters involving Precinct 4 Monday, it was stated.

Corsicanan Is Among Surplus Sale Buyers

TEXARKANA, Nov. 27.—(Spl.)—Aaron W. Bule, 207 South Beaton street, Corsicana, Texas, veteran of World War II, was among the hundreds of purchasers of government surplus property at the site sale of more than $1,500,000 worth of automotive maintenance equipment, hand tools and quartermaster supplies held at Lone Star ordnance plant near Texarkana this week. The seven divisions of items offered included automotive supplies, garage equipment, quartermsater supplies, chemicals and miscellaneous items, small hardware, copper tubing, conduit and wire rope, and mechanical machines. This was the second cycle of a series of similar sales being conducted by WAA at Texarkana.

Bule was successful in the purchase of a puller.

District Supervisors, Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District: Morris Crawford, chairman; W. C. Pearce, vice-chairman; Thad Jones, secretary; E. Creekmore and W. Lewis David, members.

G. W. Watkins has been busy sodding Bermuda grass on his farm in the Retreat Conservation Group and also the farm in the Emhouse Conservation group this week.

The sodding has been done with Bermuda grass roots harvested in the sand. The Bermuda grass was plowed up with a one-way plow on Mrs. H. H. Pugh's farm. The roots were dragged to the surface with a spring-tooth harrow, windrowed with the district owned side delivery rake and loaded on trailers and hauled to the farms for sodding.

Both farms are planned for terracing when the grass has grown sufficiently to provide protection against severe washing when terraces concentrate water. The waterways are in natural drainageways and will serve as patsure as well as terrace outlets.

Two methods of sodding were used. One method was to break the land and drop the Bermuda grass roots in every third furrow, every furrow where terraces empty; the other method was to bed the land, drop the roots and "bust" the beds. After the roots were covered the land was harrowed in order to level it for mowing in the spring.

Watkins likes this method of sodding as it is much faster than where chunks are used. Approximately 50 acres were sodded in three days.

E. L. Watson, of the Watson conservation group, is spring sodding individual terrace outlets. He is harvesting the Bermuda grass roots in the sandy land and hauling them to his blackland farm for sodding

Superintendent E. C. Butler, of the Emhouse schools, continues to afford his general agriculture class of young boys every opportunity to observe and study practical methods of conservation farming. Such was the case last week when the class was present while Charlie DeRusha was sodding on the farm he operates northeast of Emhouse.

V. A. Lonon of the North Powell conservation group reports one-third of a bale of cotton per acre this year, following Austrian winter peas, and less than one-fifth of a bale per acre where cotton followed cotton. This fall Mr. Lonon planted 120 acres to peas to follow with cotton next spring.

J. D. Burdine and Alvin Jones of the Tupelo Conservation group recently sodded a pasture strip for terrace outlet water. The sod was put out in chunks and in order to assure sufficient growth to build terraces after one season, barnyard manure was distributed in the furrows before the sod was covered.

Terraces are rounding into shape rapidly on the Dr. W. W. Carter and Mrs. G. F. Lonon farms north of Powell this week. Three whirlwind terracing machines have been in operation and have constructed around seven miles of terraces even though soil working conditions were not too favorable.

Simon Peterson, an employee of the Oil City Iron Works was severely injured today when an acetylene gas generator exploded, blowing him out of the building.

J. D. Calhoun, R. L. Harris, Blooming Grove; and Mid Westbrook, Jr., Kerens; were serving as jury commissioners.

L. W. Elkins, Barry merchant, died of injuries sustained in an automobile wreck near Cryer Creek.

The country club ball was the coming social feature in town with florists making bids for the expected large trade. William Farnum was at the Grand in "His Great Secrifice."

The editor said in his editorial column that a north wind convinced residents living on the south side of Second avenue that paving was desirable and believed that a south wind would convince the north side dwellers and possibly they could get together and pave the street.

Federal Age Agency Will Move Offices

DALLAS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The Federal Age certification office will be transferred from Austin to Dallas next month, Miss Owen Geach, of the U. S. Department of labor, said yesterday.

Miss Geach, regional consultant of the child labor and youth employment branch of the division of labor standards, said the transfer was in the interest of coordinating child labor activities more closely with those of other department functions.

Teachers' Strike Is Said "Close To Settlement"

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Fred M. Truax, St. Paul commissioner of education, declared last night that the strike of teachers which shut 77 schools here Monday was "close to settlement."

told the assembly, provided for a presidential system of government, with extensive powers entrusted to the Chief Executive.

He declared there would be a danger of totalitarianism if the President did not know how to limit his powers, and added:

"The Chinese people must be educated in the science of government, since they have not had any experience in self-government."

The generalissimo said that if the new constitution is to work satisfactorily those who exercise power must ably protect the rights of the people in all ways.

His 20-minute address, perhaps one of the most significant of his long political career, was liberally punctuated by applause. He spoke with dramatic force, particularly in referring to the sacrifices of the revolutionaries two decades ago. At times he faltered with emotion.

He spoke even as the split widened between his Koumintang and the Communists, who have been making extensive military gains in North China and Manchuria while his own troops are under a cease-fire order.

cans that their sons were dying on many fronts.

In 1944 the heart was taken out of America's Thanksgiving by the Allied bog down on the German front. Our armies were short of supplies, stalled. We still looked forward to what was expected to be a blood bath at the crossing of the Rhine, and within a few days we were to face one of the bitterest battles of American history—the Bulge.

Last year we were washing the dirty dishes left over from the worst meal of crow we had ever eaten—Pearl Harbor.

And the great General Motors strike began, setting off reverberations which have not yet quited.

Yes, we have come through trouble, and we are still in trouble. But the spectre of hunger which stalks so much of the world throws no shadows over the American board today. If we have a coal shortage, we shall only be deprived of something which millions elsewhere have learned not to even expect.

But probably the greatest thing America has to be thankful for today is that the end of shooting this time has not lulled her into a sense of false security; that she is alive to her responsibilities in the world; that she is determined to wage an unremitting battle against a repetition of the recent years.

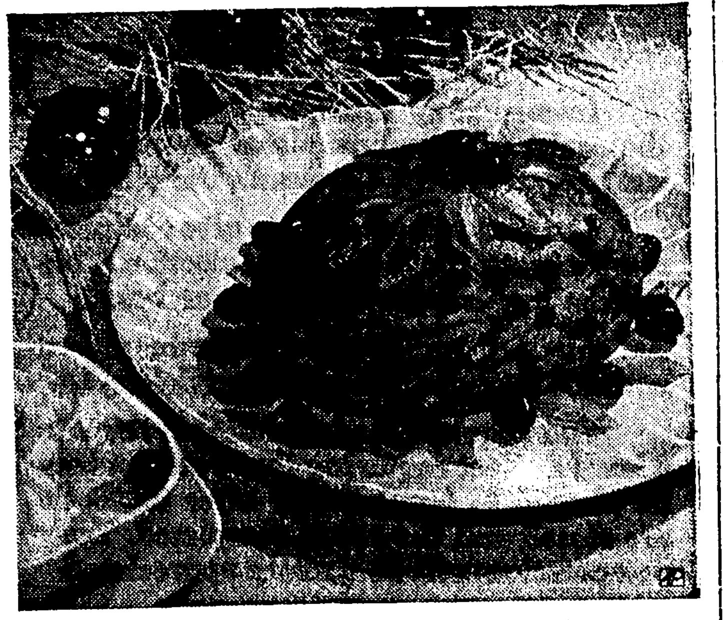
CHRISTMAS PUDDING



GRANDMOTHER'S PLUM PUDDING...For a merry Yule

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor.

Every year at Christmas time, my mother gives to very special friends plum puddings made several weeks before from the recipe of my grandmother, Charlotte Adams Houston. Every Christmas dinner at our house, when dessert came around and the pudding was brought flaming to the table with a bit of holly stuck in its top, my father would remark: "Ah, just a simple batter pudding!"

It isn't a bit simple or batterish, of course, this pudding. It's very rich and perfectly delicious and a little of it goes a very long way.

My Grandmother's Plum Pudding.

1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup currants, 1-3 cup seedless raisins, 1-2 cup cut citron, 1 cup suet (or in modern times 3-4 cup chilled butter or vitaminized margarine chopped), 1 cup light molasses, 1 cup sugar, 3 eggs, 2 cups dry bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup milk, candied cherries, candied grapefruit peel holly leaves.

Sift, measure flour and combine with spices, salt and fruits. Add suet, molasses, sugar and well beaten eggs to crumbs. Dissolve soda in milk, add to egg mixture, then stir in fruit and flour. Place in well-greased. 2 quart mold. Steam 4 hours over hot water in large kettle. This pudding is better if it's kept at least two weeks. It may be resteamed for an hour before serving. It is always served hot. Garnish with candied cherries and grapefruit peel holly leaves, the yield is 12-16 portions.

Here are some sauces which go well with the pudding:

Trinidad Hard Sauce.

1-4 cup butter or vitaminized margarine, 2 cups confectioner's sugar, 1 egg, yolk, 1 tablespoon West Indian rum or 1-2 teaspoon rum flavoring, 1-2 teaspoon angostura bitters (optional), nutmeg.

Cream butter or margarine and sugar. Add egg and beat very light. Add rum or flavoring slowly and the bitters, if used. Heap roughly into serving bowl. Chill until firm. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Serve with hot Christmas pudding.

Hot Lemon Sauce.

1-2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 1-4 cups boiling water, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, rind of one lemon, 2 tablespoons butter or vitaminized margarine, pinch of salt, 1-4 teaspoon vanila.

Combine sugar and cornstarch. Add boiling water slowly. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add lemon juice, rind, butter or margarine, salt and vanila.

Kerosene Lamp Chimneys Keep A Plant Going

AP Newsfeature.

CORNING, N. Y. Glass chimneys for kerosene lamps, regarded by many almost as antiques, are in greater demand today than ever before, according to production schedules of the Corning Glass Works.

Lamp chimneys are one of 37,000 glass articles manufactured by the industry, but the demand is so great that the company's entire plant at Chrarlerio, Pa., formerly the Macbeth-Evans Co., is now operating on a 24-hour day, 7-day week basis in order to keep abreast of orders.

INDIAN works by lamplight

Corning expects to turn out 14,000,000 lamp chimneys by machine by the end of this year.

TEXAS TODAY

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Man's best friend is a dog, and a dog's best friend is a boy.

Take Spud, the eight-year-old Chesapeake retriever belonging to handsome young John G. Work, Jr., 15, of El Paso.

The two went into the Franklin mountains one afternoon. Spud was chasing an animal along the top of a windswept 7,000-foot peak when he was hurt.

It might have been a bobcat, or he could have been chasing a rabbit and tumbled off a ledge. Anyway, he limped back to John, crying and limping. His face was badly clawed and a leg cut.

Stays With Dog

John tried to carry the dog, but his 60 pounds was too much. He saw it was too late to take a round-about road back to town, and Spud was too badly injured to go back down the steep ledge they had climbed. The dog, crying and whimpering wouldn't budge.

"There was nothing to do but stay with him," John said simply.

He was wearing light clothing, and one shoe had been ripped to ribbons by jagged rocks. He built a fire and huddled with his dog through a night of frezing, gusty weather. He warmed the little water he had in his canteen and bathed Spud's wounds. He used cardboard found near a beacon light as a shield.

Out All Night

Together the dog and his faithful master bedded down for the night under a ledge near the peak.

Spud didn't sleep much, and John woke up every hour or two to put more wood on the fire.

Meanwhile, John's parents became alarmed and a search began. A rescue party of sheriff's deputies, his father and Boy Scouts found the dog and his master the following morning.

Spud Given Steak

Back home, Spud was honored with a steak but he was too tired to eat. John bathed Spud's wounds and the dog sank contentedly into a heavy but troubled sleep.

John suffered no ill effects. He downed the two big meals and played football in the street before taking an afternoon nap.

The family had been beside themselves with worry but six-year-old Alice, his kid sister, more or less voiced their sentiments:

"He could have come home, but I'm glad he brought Spud back."

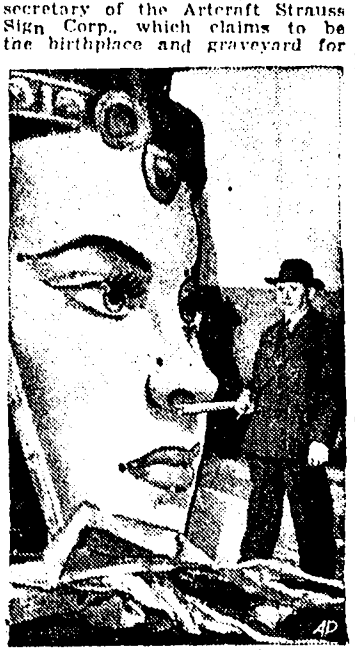
A Good Sign To Be Ogled On Broadway

By SAUL PETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer.

NEW YORK—Outside they were carving up 30 feet of Jane Russell and loading it into a truck.

Inside, gray-haired, practical-minded Jacob Starr observed. "In my business, you can't be sentimental. When we're through with 'em, we just throw 'em away."

Starr's business is signs. He is secretary of the Artcraft Strauss Sign Corp., which claims to be the birthplace and graveyard for 90 per cent of the spectacular outdoor display signs blinking on Broadway—the ones that make the tourists stare.



JACOB AND CLEOPATRA
Starr with a billboard-sized face representing Vivien Leigh

Elsewhere in the firm's plant at 57th St., facing the Hudson river, were the grotesque remains of a 140-feet picture of Vivien Leigh as Cleopatra, a yard-wide head of Paul Whiteman, man-sized letters and other ghosts of the White Way's synthetic glamor, all awaiting the scrap heap.

Little Worth Saving.

If you've got the room, here's the place to get huge pictures of your favorite movie star for nothing. As Starr explained, it costs more to remake an old sign than to build a new one. About all that is saved is some wiring, sockets and other metal.

Starr's firm designs, manufactures, operates, sells and rents signs that idea men think up. Rental range from $5,000 to $15,000 a month.

The company's biggest project is 75 by 250 feet, with one letter 40 feet high.

The most complex and most expensive sign in the Strauss stable hangs over the Palace theater on Broadway. It's worth a quarter of a million, uses 27,000 bulbs in four colors and can be changed completely every 20 seconds. The light bill for this averages about $500 a month.

The company's biggest new project destined for Broadway is a girl made out of plexiglass. She will stand four stories high and display a leg two and a half stories long. The lady will advertise slips.

Important Notice To Election Officials

Immediately upon the completion of the count of your box please phone (Collect) results to the Corsicana Daily Sun.

The Sun will attempt to give complete county totals the night of the election. This will be impossible without your box.

Just tell the operator to connect you with the Daily Sun, Corsicana (Collect).

You should bear in mind that there is a law in effect requiring that your returns be phoned in immediately after the polls are closed and the count completed. Your co-operation will be greatly appreciated.

New Sand Discovered.

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The second new sand in as many weeks was discovered in Starr oil pools, it was revealed yesterday.

At the J. O. Clark No. 1 Juarez test in the Kelsey Field, the new sand was logged in the Frio at 5,364 1-2-72 feet after a gas sand was found at 5,297-5,218 feet. The sand developed nine and one-half pounds of working pressure and yielded a recovery of 350 feet of 47-gravity crud oil, with no water showing.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Lesson In Conservation

We were sitting on Bill Webster's porch the other night, chatting over a glass of beer—when the talk turns to forest preservation, soil erosion, and other things that affect a farming community.

Judge Cunningham speaks up: "It's all right to worry about conserving our natural resources," he says, "but there's a far bigger problem when it comes to conservation—and that's preserving our democratic way of life, our sense of personal freedom, our respect for one another's rights."

From where I sit, the Judge is right. All America's great resources, our abundant natural wealth, are lost the minute we lose the right to work them as free people in a free land!

Whenever you see or hear of an encroachment on our rights—whether it's the right to free speech, or the right to vote as we see fit, or the right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer in licensed, law-abiding places . . . watch out!

FUNERAL RITES FOR W. T. MATTHEWS HELD THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for W. T. Matthews, aged 74 years, who died at his home, 702 North Fourteenth street, Tuesday afternoon, were held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Missionary Baptist church. Burial was in the Eureka cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. A. J. Kirkland, pastor of the church, and Rev. Joe E. Glenn, Dallas, former pastor here. A native of Alabama, Matthews had resided in Corsicana for many years.

Surviving are his wife of Corsicana; two sons, Leo Matthews, Premont, and W. T. Matthews, Jr., Waco; a daughter, Mrs. J. T. Reed, Fort Smith, Ark.; three grandchildren, two brothers, A. M. Matthews and P. L. Matthews, both of Corsicana; four sisters, Mrs. D. F. Maddox, Mexia; Mrs. G. W. Riley, Dallas; Mrs. J. A. Floyd, Corsicana, and Miss Ida Matthews, Dallas; and a number of other relatives.

Pallbearers were Jack Floyd, Clinton Floyd, Ernest Matthews, Calvin Pike, Frank Leathers and Philbert Percival.

Corley Funeral Home directed.

CARD OF THANKS.

We, the Davis and Brooks families, highly appreciate the sympathy shown from all the people, at the funeral of Ollie Brooks, which was held at the Church of Christ (colored) Sunday, Nov. 24, 1946.

LABOR RIOT IN OLD EPHESUS POINTS PRINCIPLES FOR TODAY*

Scene at Ancient Ephesus Has Modern Parallels Sound Christian Teaching Clashes With Bad Business Practice—Behavior of Vested Interests Never Changes.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

Most persons have never seen a riot; but nobody who has watched the progress of one will ever forget it. One of the most thrilling reports of a great riot is the core of the present Sunday school lesson.

Outwardly, this tumult in old Ephesus was an affair of religion, always the most serious form of public outburst, as illustrated by the frequent Moslem-Hindu riots reported from India. Actually, it was a carefully planned and dramatically staged labor demonstration. First of all let us get the background.

After his second adventurous missionary journey which carried him into Ephesus, Paul returned to Jerusalem, having resisted entreaties to abide in Ephesus. When he had reported to the Mother Church, he again set out to traverse his old route. This time when he reached the great and thriving city of Ephesus, he decided to remain there for a time. After three months the opposition of those who disagreed with his doctrine became so very pressing that he moved into a building occupied by a Gentile teacher, and there for two years carried on a continuous religious revival.

A Revival Gets Under Way

Evidently Paul was a sensational preacher. His sermons reached the big crowd and made the headlines. Paul's gospel was dramatically changing lives and affecting the thought of the entire region. Outward results of inward change were everywhere manifest. Old Ephesus was witnessing a citywide awakening of religious consciousness.

One of the thriving trades of Ephesus was the manufacture of silver images of the famous goddess Diana, whose temple was one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. A master silversmith named Demetrius watched with concern the decline of his business as the effect of Paul's preaching steadily spread. So he called together his whole labor union, and with a demagogue's skill began to incite their mob passions. Their very livelihood was in danger, he warned; and seeking a good reason for a bad action, he stressed the great irreverence toward the goddess Diana. He cloaked his sordid concern for profits beneath his seeming solicitude for the old religion.

There is always material for a demagogue to work upon—simple-minded persons whose emotions are more powerful than their intelligence. Appealing to what has been called "the permanent existence of a solid layer of savagery beneath the surface of society," Demetrius, a natural-born agitator, proceeded to work skillfully on the aroused passions of his hearers.

Mob Spirit Rises

Soon the mob of silver workers gathered in the great theater (which is still standing in a remarkable state of preservation) were clamoring for the blood of the Christian missionaries. For two solid hours they rent the air with throaty cries of, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians."

The one man who kept his head was the town clerk of Ephesus. He would have been an unusual man in any age for he was thinking not of votes nor of his own safety nor of his popularity but of the honor of Ephesus and of the sanctity of the law. He finally dispersed the crowd with his fearless and forthright words of warning.

In all the world today there is not a single mortal who pays homage to Diana, and her temple has only been discovered by the diligent search of archeologists. But the Christian Church lives on. The rabble rouser Demetrius takes his place with the sinister of all ages, while Paul continues to thrill millions of believers; and the town clerk of Ephesus is still admired by those who like forthright speech and courage.

All Problems Spiritual

After the town clerk had adjourned the meeting—ten years after in fact—Paul wrote a letter to the Christian Church of Ephesus. His moral superiority to Demetrius is revealed in the advice he gave Christian believers on how to solve their problems. Demetrius believed that if he could yell loud enough and get enough hoodlums behind him, he could put anything across. Recently General MacArthur pointed out that all human problems are basically theological in their nature. This Paul appreciated. Turning away in quiet disgust from clamor and violence, Paul advised the early Christians when they confronted a problem to gird their loins with truth, to put on the breastplate or righteousness, to seek peace instead of strife, to take up the shield of faith and the helmet of salvation and the sword of the spirit as their weapons. Above all they were to refresh their lives constantly with prayer.

Out of a remote century comes this advice to an age which confronts more problems than humanity has confronted in any other single period of history. The solution to life's problems is a spiritual solution. Paul says this today to capitalist and labor leaders, to diplomat and statesman, to educator and preacher, to business man and politician. Any other attempted solution will fail.

SOME PRACTICES BY LANDLORDS ILLEGAL, AREA DIRECTOR SAYS

Area Rent Director J. S. Murchison put a wet damper on the plans of some landlords in the three county area Wednesday.

An example of the violation was given by the director as the landlord charging $30 per month, including $5 for utilities, on July 1, 1495, and now lists his rent at $30 with the office, but collects an additional $5 for utilities.

"That is not legal and is a direct violation of the rent control act. It's simply a side payment."

Murchison stated that registrations are still coming in to the Corsicana office, but not in the numbers desired. If landlords persist in holding off to the last minute to register, the local office will not be able to take care of the overflow, he declared.

Final registration date n the three county area is Dec. 15. There are a great number of landlords with large units in Corsicana who have not registered. Failure to register within the 45-day period is a federal violation and violators will be taken to court, the director emphasized.

Murchison dsclosed that a branch office of the Corsicana rent office would be established in Waxahachie in the near future. Mrs. Verna M. Gillam, now undergoing training in the local office, will be in charge of the Ellis county office.

The files in the local office are being set up and all landlords in the area will have been afforded an opportunity to have registered by the end of next week. The local office has been running a schedule to all towns in the three counties for the convenience of landlords.

Rheumatic Heart Disease Is Fatal To Many Children

AUSTIN, Nov. 28.—(Spl.)—Rheumatic heart disease is now the first cause of death among children aged 10 to 14, and is second only to tuberculosis at ages 15 to 25. Despite the importance of this disease its epidemiology is not completely established. No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid, diphtheria, smallpox and whooping cough has yet been developed for its prevention or control. We do know, however, some of the danger signals and with the physician's accurate diagnosis some of the damaging results of the diescase may be prevented.

Exposure to frequent chilling damp or overcrowded living quarters, a poor diet, an attack of scarlet fever, a bad cold or other infection caused by certain streptococcus germs are likely to be predisposing factors in the appearance of rheumatic fever.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, points out that in general the danger signals of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows, or wrists. The pain usually is felt in one of these centers and spreads it to the others. Oftentimes a child will get irritable and cross without any visible signs of a good reason for this attitude; he may cry easily or develop habits of nervousness. A physician should be consulted at once in such a situation, for these symptoms may be the beginning of rheumatic fever.

According to Dr. Cox the best safeguards against this disease are to have each child examined at least once a year by a physician, to have the right kind of food and plenty of rest. When the disease is suspected of being present, a doctor should be consulted at once, and if he prescribes complete bed rest, his advice should be implicitly followed.

APPOINTMENTS GIVEN 2 EX-CORSICANANS BY GOV.-ELECT JESTER

Two former Corsicanans received the first appointments announced by Governor-Elect Beauford H. Jester of Corsicana, railroad commissioner, according to press dispatches late Monday from Austin.

William L. McGill will be executive or private secretary to the governor and Lawrence D. (Sadie) Ransom will be first assistant secretary to the governor, office business manager and state agent of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Jester also intimated he would soon announce his selection for state highway commissioner, adjutant general, his successor to the railroad commission, secretary of state. Jester leaves Wednesday for Mexico and will return December 5.

McGill University Prof.

McGill is a graduate of Corsicana High school and the University of Texas. He is a professor of journalism at the University of Texas, but will resign that post on Feb. 1, 1947, to accept the new job with the governor. McGill's salary will be $3,600 per year, $800 less than his pay as a professor for nine months work, but he plans to go into other work after his tenure as secretary to the governor. McGill became manager of Student Publications, Inc., at the University, Sept. 1, 1923, and subsequently was named director of student publications and served in that capacity until 1940. He was appointed lecturer in journalism in 1925, and in 1937 was named professor of journalism. In 1940, McGill was elected the university's representative in Texas development program with hadquarters in the executive department of the state governmnt. Subsequently he was appointed as co-ordinator of the Texas development pragrom and later as state defense co-ordinator for Texas. On March 10, 1944, McGill was granted a leave of absence to serve as director of personnel for the Red Cross fories in the Mediterranean theatre of operation and returned to the United States March 28, 1946.

Ransom, a life-long Corsicana resident until he was appointed as executive secretary of the railroad commission, Dec. 1, 1942, formerly served as deputy county clerk and as chairman of the Navarro county Democratic executive Committee.

Corsicanan Is Among Surplus Goods Buyers

TEXARKANA, Nov. 28—(Spl.)—Curtis A. Keen, Corsicana, Texas, veteran of World War II, was among the hundreds of purchasers of government surplus property at the site sale of more than $1,500,000 worth of automotive maintenance equipment, hand tools and quartermaster supplies held at Lone Star Ordnance plant near Texarkana this week. The seven divisions of items offered included automotive supplies, garage equipment, quartermaster supplies, chemicals and miscellaneous items, small hardware, copper tubing, conduit and wire rope, and mechanical machines. This was the second cycle of a series of similar sales being conducted by WAA at Texarkana.

Keen was successful in the purchase of an auto jack, wood tank, cover, and some cabinets.

B.&P.W. CLUB DINNER MEETING HEARS DISCUSSION OF "WOMAN AND WORLD PEACE" BY NOKES

By MRS. LYNNE A. WORTHAM
Sun Society Editor

In a timely and challenging discussion of "Women and World Peace" at the International Relations Dinner of the Business and Professional Women's Club at Kinsloe House on Tuesday evening, George O. Nokes, Jr., state representative-elect from Navarro county, paid eloquent tribute to women and her onward march toward peace. Tracing woman's phenomenal progress through the years, the speaker declared that woman is newly arrived on the international scene, having had no legal status a century ago. Until a few years ago, she had no vote, was not considered a legal personality and could not own property, but today, he continued, women enjoy rights almost equal to men.

Woman's status in England, France, Cuba, Germany, Sweden, Japan and Russia was reviewed by the speaker. It was pointed out that woman's first appearance at a world organization for peace in the 19th century met with failure, as they were not even allowed to speak at open meetings. Woman's first individual contribution to the progress of peace came in 1905 when Baroness Bertha von Suttner of Austria was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for her book, "Lay Down Your Arms." This accomplishment, the speaker declared, was the real foundation stone for organization of the Woman's Peace Party in 1915, and the formation the same year of Women's International Congress for Permanent Peace at the Hague, with Jane Addams as chairman of a committee composed of representatives of twelve countries.

Resume of Program

In a summarization of accomplishments of women's meetings during World War I and immediately following it, the speaker stated that the meetings provided vehicles for constructive thought, and brought numerous suggestions in the form of resolutions to improve world organization, to extend care for suffering Europeans, and to eliminate famine and disease in a modern world. However, these ideas were rejected as responsible leaders were still not convinced that women should be given equal voice with men.

In spite of virtual defeat, women's organizations determined to fight on but in a more practical manner, and in 1930 three conferences on the Cause and Cure of War were held in the United States, but again the voice of woman was too weak to be heard over the din of preparation for World War II, the speaker asserted.

United Nations Organization Outlined

In an enumeration of structures through which women may work for peace, the speaker referred to the League of Nations and its failure, and described the various conferences that lead to the UNO charter and the famous San Francisco Conference. The various sections of the UNO were mentioned, including the general assembly, the security council, the economic and social council, the trusteeship council, international court of justice, the secretariat, and the work of the most important committee was outlined.

Mr. Nokes stressed the importance of the Commission on Human Rights, which has nine members and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as chairman, and whose purpose is to foster and enlarge human rights and make the United Nations Organization a vitalizing factor in the world of tomorrow.

Concluding Remarks

In his concluding remarks, the speaker stated that women are in better position to work for peace today than ever before, since they possess the right to vote, have gained in prestige and influence, and have furnished two women governors, a representative in the Department of Labor, and at present, have nine members in the House of Representatives and two hundred and fifty-four members in State Legislatures.

Suggestions by the speaker for carrying on the fight for world peace included the organization of committees on human rights, an increasing interest in politics and government through organizations and individuals, an undertaking of the work of the United Nations Organiztaion, and a more vitalized interest in the peace movement in individual homes. Particular emphasis was placed on the individual woman and her one-woman campaign for the realization of world peace, since woman is the premier patroness of peace and traditionally a peacemaker from the beginning of time.

Sponsored by International Relations Committee

Miss Adlyn Hays offered the invocation, after which Mrs. Noel D. Hook, chairman of the International Relations Committee, which sponsored the dinner presentation, brought greetings to those in attendance and explained that her committee in the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of the world has as its aim the promotion of understanding and friendship among the women of the world. Members of her committee have their eyes, ears and heart turned toward peace, Mrs. Hook revealed, and are furthering their project through the presentation of interesting and informative speakers.

Mrs. Hook introduced Mrs. R. N. Elliott who contributed well-received vocal interpretations of "Little Town" by Edward F. Hearn and "Morning Hymn" by Henschell with Edward F. Hearn at the piano.

Mrs. L. S. Cooper, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, was presented by Mrs. Hook and, in turn, introduced the speaker of the evening.

Decorative Features

The dinner tables featured a harvest theme, Thanksgiving garlands having been fashinoed of rich-hued vegetables, fruits and lacquer-red berries and interspersed with glowing red tapers in crystal holders.

Committee members who assisted Mrs. Hook in general arrangements for the dinner were Mrs. Mabel Murrah, Mrs. Alleen Woodruff, Miss Mary Sharp, Miss Mirl Craddock, Miss Winona Stewart, Miss Mabelbeth Jackson and Mrs. Lucille Denbow.

NEW EXPRESS RATES TO BE EFFECTIVE HERE ON DEC. 13

New express rates will become effective here Dec. 13, 1946, T. D. Morris, general agent of Railway Express Agency, announced today. New rates will represent an increase of 20 cents per 100 pounds on first class and 15 cents per 100 pounds on second class rates, with increases in minimum and graduated charges for packages weighing less than 100 pounds. The increases are based on a recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Morris said, and it is hoped that they will permit the agency to meet the higher wage scales now in effect, higher cost of materials, increased taxes, equipment and rents.

Enlistments Counter Intelligence Corps

Direct enlistments in the Counter Intelligence Corps by individuals meeting requirements have been authorized, the local sub-station of the army recruiting service announced Wednesday.

Coming with this announcement was the disclosure by Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general of the Army Ground Forces, of troop inactivation and reduction in the continental limits.

Enlistment in the Counter Intelligence Corps is for a two-year period. Requirements are that the enlistee be not less than 22 or over 35 years of age, physically qualified for full field duty overseas, a United States citizen, a high school graduate, and have a recorded AGCT score of 110 or higher.

The overall strength of the Army Ground Forces in the continental limits, it is estimated, will be reduced to approximately 38,000 men in line with the economy program of the war department. Many famed fighting units will be reduced to a cadre of one officer and one enlisted man per battalion.

The cut will leave the continental strength of the ground forces at roughly one and one-half infantry divisions.

Further information may be obtained from the local office located above McAdams Pharmacy. Entrance to the office is on west Collin.

AERIAL FIREWORKS UNCORKED BY BOTH TEAMS IN FINALE

FORMER SMU MUSTANG STAR PACES NAVAL AGGREGATION WEDNESDAY

Coach Ken Clark stated Thursday morning the score of the Dallas NAS-Navarro Junior College game was 26-26. Tie. the Associated Press and Dallas Morning News carried the score as 26-25 in favor of the Dallas team.

A final period rally by the fighting Bulldogs of Navarro Junior College fell short by one point Wednesday as they bowed to the Dallas Naval Air Station 26-25, in a thrilling tilt that ended the season for the locals.

Engineering the Fliers' first win of the season was Hoyle Simes, former star of the Southern Methodist University Mustangs. His passing and running took the heart out of the locals before they surged back in the fourth canto to come within a point of gaining a tie.

Earlier in the year the Scarlet and White tripped the Fliers 19-0 on Tiger Field. With a new mentor, Lt. Comdr. R. C. Nolan, the Hensley Field eleven evened the series between the two teams.

Opening Tally.

A lateral and then a forward picked up the first tally for the victors with Simes lateralling to Richard Davis, who passed on down to Coe Anderson for a 65-yard pickup.

Shortly afterwards, F. J. Baudi and Ted Camp blocked a Bulldog punt with R. A. Holden falling on the ball on the Navarro one foot line. Simes, working in the tailback slot, eased over a sneak. J. W. Weaver converted both times.

Coming from behind in the first period, the Bulldogs set to work to climax a downfield drive to count with Billy Shelton, former Kerens, flash, hitting the center.

The Fliers took to the air again in the second period with Simes lateralling to G. W. Thomas, who raced the remaining 45 yards to pay dirt. The try for extra point was wide.

Matthews Scored.

Navarro came back strong in the second canto to make the score 20-12 when alert Co-Capt. James Ivey, guard, recovered a NAS fumble on the Fliers' 10 yard line. Three line plays inched the ball downfield with Jack Matthews ramming into the center of the line to go over for the tally on fourth down.

In the third period the Fliers clicked again, this time when D. K. Robertson kicked out on the Navarro 7 yard line. The desperate Bulldogs took to the airlanes, but Simes intercepted one of the heaves and raced it back across the goal line.

Bryant Pass Star.

Still undaunted, the Bulldogs stuck to the air and in the fourth period brewed a surge that came close to tieing the home team. Harold Bryant tossed a long pass to Charles Blissett and the end went on to score. The try for extra point was good.

The final score came on a sleeper with End E. Y. Putman doing the hiding and Bryant again doing the tossing, this time good for 50 yards, but the try for extra point was not good.

NAS made 12 first down, 176 yards rushing, and 75 yards passing. Navarro made nine first down, 110 yards rushing, and 120 yards passing.

David Corley Bagged Couple Of Bucks On Recent Llano Hunt

David Corley recently bagged two bucks, an eight and a six-pointer. in Llano county on the Winters Ranch. His dad, John Corley, secured one and plans to return later. in the season for a chance at another buck.

CORSICANA WOMAN BAGS COUPLE DEER IN MASON COUNTY

A number of Corsicana hunters of the male variety have returned home from recent deer hunting territory admitting—and some even bragging—that they had killed their limit for the season, two bucks, but it remained for Mrs. Homer Steele to bring back two deer, a six-pointer and a nine-pointer, and quietly resume her position at the J. M. Dyer Company office—and say nothing about it. She had to be hunted out and really interviewed when a Sun represenutative heard about her prowess.

Mr. and Mrs. Steele hunted on the J. W. White ranch near Mason, in Mason county. Steele also killed a deer, an eight-pointer, and a big turkey gobbler. In the Steele party were Mr. and Mrs. Top Keeling of Wortham and Mayor Bob Brumbach, R. E. Williams and Mr. Brown of Ennis.

EMBRY S. FERGUSON NAMED CHAIRMAN OF LOCAL ORGANIZATION

Embry S. Ferguson has been elected as chairman of the Navarro County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, succeeding David Ralston, it was revealed Tuesday. Ralston had been chairman for several years.

Other officers for the chapter will be elected at a meeting within the near future.

BASEBALL MEETING SLATED FRIDAY TO CONSIDER BALL PARK

GENERAL PUBLIC INVITED TO ATTEND 10 A. M. CONFERENCE

Corsicana's entry into the Class B East Texas League will hinge on the outcome of a meeting at 10 a. m. Friday in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

The general public is urged to attend the meeting at which time the city representative in the loop will be discussed and a plan made for the sale of stock in the venture.

A committee met with property owners of the proposed site and the outcome was favorable, Ed C. Mueller, manager of the Chamber of Commerce said Wednesday.

Territo Has Franchise.

Louis Territo, franchise owner, has a plat of the land and a blue print of the proposed 3,500-5,000 seating capacity park, which will be located on the site of the old organized baseball diamond.

If a stock company is organized and the people of Corsicana show an interest in the return of baseball, Fred Marberry, former major league hurler and manager of Texas league clubs, will fly to Los Angeles for the national association meeting of club owners on Dec. 2.

Territo obtained the franchise at the fall meeting of the East Texas league, which has been split with four of the clubs joining with four new clubs to form a Class B loop and four of the old clubs forming the nucleus of the Class C Lone Star loop.

Corsicana, formerly a hotbed of organized baseball in Texas, has entered the new league along with Wichita Falls, Waco, and Temple. Games will be played at night. Steel and lumber is available for the construction of the park, Territo told the group that met with him Tuesday afternoon.

Park Cost $50,000.

Cost of the park would approximate $50,000, he said, but later estimates have set the price lower. The grandstands would be of steel construction.

Marbrry is considered a strong possibility for manager of the club, although no definite announcement has been made. His trip to Los Angeles would be in the interest of securing a contract for the Corsicana club as a farm unit for a major league nine.

At the present time the famed "Firpo," considered the greatest relief hurler to work in the majors, is in private business in the city.

He has professed a strong desire to see a return of organized baseball to the city. His making the trip would be because of his civic interest in the venture. Marberry has many friends still in the major leagues as managers and chiefs of farm systems.

Dallas Hookup?

It is reported that Dallas has made inquiries about the local set up and a working agreement with that club, a part of the Detroit chain, is not considered out of the realm of possibility.

Corsicana is the only team remaining in the loop without a park or plans for a park. Wichita Falls recently purchased Spudder Park for the use of that club. Temple has made plans for a park and Waco has the old Texas league park for its use. The remainder of the clubs have parks used last year when the loop was Class C.

Many citizens have contacted Territo and signified willingness to invest in the venture. Those baseball boosters and many more are scheduled to be on hand for the organizational meeting.

May Attend Meeting.

Sending of a representative to the club meeting in Los Angeles is considred imperative, not only for a major league hookup, but also for the purchase of equipment.

A national firm specializinz in concessions has approached Territo on the subject of securing a contract for the local park. The company specializes in contests such as awarding Victory bonds to batters hitting signs on the fence, free passes, and other promotional stunts.

Couple Youngsters Bagged Big Bucks

Two youthful sportsmen recently bagged eight point bucks on the Danny T. Nicholson ranch near Marble Falls.

The youngsters were David Woolley, 12-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Woolley, and Dickie Brown, 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Brown. Mr. Brown secured a buck,

The kills were the first for the two young sportsmen.

VA OFFICIAL TELLS LIONS OF BENEFITS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT HOUSING, JULIEN HYER DECLARES

Julien Hyer of Dallas, chief of the Veterans' Administration contact service, advised the Lions Club Tuesday at the weekly luncheon in the Navarro Hotel to become aware of the 5,900 veterans in Navarro county.

"You ought to do something about this housing situation. If war was declared tomorrow you would find housing for these veterans. I lay the responsibility at your door," the former army colonel stated.

A judge advocate in the past conflict, Hyer served in both wars. Prior to the last war he was a Fort Worth attorney and a former member of the Texas senate. In 1932 he was president of Lions International.

Presented Statistics.

The speaker, a polished orator renowned throughout the state, presented the club members with interesting statistics. One out of eight people in America have worn the uniform of the nation. Counting those who served in World War 1, the ration drops to one out of seven, Hyer revealed.

In Texas one out of seven persons were in national service and in Navarro county, of the 51,808 persons listed in the last census, 5,908 were in uniform in the last conflict—one out of eight persons.

"There are an average of 1,287 veterans coming to the local contact office for help and guidance each month. Doesn't that open your eyes? That shows you must not overlook or disregard this large portion of your population who look with the eyes of veterans."

Hyer listed the benefits derived from the Veterans' Administration as the care of the sick and wounded; investigation, preparation and paying of claims; loans for homes and business; education, and insurance.

The VA chief admitted the loan program had not progressed as planned and laid the blame on high prices that will not give the veterans a fair transaction. He declared the colleges were the transforming stage of the veterans from killers to normal citizens.

Of insurance, Hyer urged the business men to promote the insurance program. The government now, he said, is the greatest insurance company in the world with over five billion dollars in policies, however, only one quarter of the veterans have taken advantage of the national life insurance program.

Hyer urged the Lions Club and the business men of the city to aid on-the-job training, the loan prfogram, insurance program, and above all to keep the veterans in the community. He lauded the leadership training afforded the veteran in service and cautioned the club members that, without adequate opportunities, the veteran will go to the larger cities.

R. C Reeder, local contact representative, introduced the speaker. On the committee with Reeder was Jack Love. Foy Garrett, accompanied by Mrs. Sam Werner at the piano, sang "Ours Alone," and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." Accompanying Hyer to Corsicana was Joe Bryan, contact office supervisor, also from the Dallas office.

Boyce Martin won the handshaking prize, with Dr. H. B. Love as the judge. Guests were the Rev. E. F. Bohmfalk, Lion Frank A. Pierce, Alabama: Ben Cole and Jake Hudson. The Rev. W. O. Harmon brought the invocation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Ellett left on Wednesday afternoon for Galveston to spend the Thanksgving holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Moore, and granddaughter, Becky Moore.
